DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 3-6, 8-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

As stated in the prior Action, the conditions necessary for performing the process most efficiently are not claimed.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 4/1/08 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant remarks that the examiner is forcing the Applicant to limit the claim to a scope that really could not be included in ANY chemical patent. Further stating :

"For example, if the Examiner insisted on the use of the word PURE in the claim, (as in pure water) then the Applicant would have to define concentration limits of purity in the specification and those limits would be included in the claim. For example, if the limit of impurity were defined in the specification as being 0.0010 moles per liter, then an infringer could use water having an impurity of conc. of .0012 moles per liter with out infringing the claim.”

Applicants specification on page 18 begins, While I do not wish to be bound by theory, it is believed that the success of the process depends on establishing favorable conditions to bring about the complete dissociation reaction... and continues with the Following four conditions are necessary for performing the process most efficiently...

While the use of the English phrase MOST EFFICIENTLY might imply that the process will work under conditions, from reading the specification one having ordinary skill in the art would not be enabled to make and/or use the invention.

Therefore, the claims remain rejected.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
